

IN MEMORIAM: ERVIN GONZALEZ

The Editorial Board of the University of Miami Law Review is honored to dedicate this issue to Ervin Gonzalez, University of Miami School of Law class of 1985. Mr. Gonzalez was a pillar in the legal community and an adjunct professor whose presence brought warmth and encouragement to those around him, particularly his students. Those of us entering this profession can only hope to achieve the same level of skill in advocacy that Mr. Gonzalez achieved, but even more importantly, should strive to become as caring and passionate about helping others as he was. Many members of our law review were fortunate to receive unwavering mentorship from Mr. Gonzalez, and for that we are forever grateful. Before his passing he co-authored a piece in this issue and we are privileged to share his words with our readers. He is deeply missed.